My Dear Mrs Brown,

We did not receive your kind invitation until last evening. This is our misfortune and yours, But we thank you just the same and wish you many years of health and joy - We hope that you may live until Three figures must be used to make a record of your age - and after that as long as you desire.

With thanks and regrets

My dear Col. Ingersoll

Some weeks ago I wrote to you asking an expression of opinion on the political situation & recognize that under ordinary circumstances I would not be entitled to a reply. All the matters associated with the present campaign are of more than ordinary interest in the cause of humanity & felt that you would not treat my letter with silence or indifference. I was led to write to you in recognition of your impartial concern in the interests of right and because of your capacity to think out affairs that so grievously concern the advancement, safety and enlightenment of the human race. I anticipated that

My dear Sir.

I read your argument in defense of Buford, and regard it as a marvellous and Exceedingly powerful presentation — not only of the facts, but of the law — and I don't wonder that it saved the life of your client.

I think it adapted to the jury you addressed — Especially the religious portion — and can see how it would influence a Kentucky believer! Allow me to say that I think your law far better than your theology.

Thanking you for your Kindness,

I remain,

Yours Sincerely
